

Fifth & Sixth Grade Notes

(and 7/8 Grade Math Notes, too)

February 18, 2022

Dear Families,

This week we welcomed Malik Alonso to our class. Everyone has enjoyed getting to know him and his sister.

Thank you to all that sent in Valentine's treats! We had so many we were able to have cookies for snack every day this week.

We are still collecting items for the veterans. Small flashlights, adult jigsaw puzzles, address books, plexiglass picture frames, pocket-sized note pads, large print crossword puzzles, and full-sized candy bars are still needed.

We will take a test on Ancient Greece next week. Our chicken mummies continue to desiccate and should be ready for our final preparations soon.

We attended the funeral of long-time parishioner, Angela Giglio, on Wednesday. We continue to explore the Sacrament of Confirmation. Our class continues to do a wonderful job leading the parish in song and chimes during our Wednesday and Friday liturgies.

We began our newest class novel, Ghost, by Jason Reynolds. This book has been very well received by the students. Vocabulary words are listed on the back.

Math 5 continues to work with fractions.

Math 6 tested on converting units. Our next unit deals with percent.

Math 7A has been reviewing simplifying expressions.

Math 7B tested on Module 7 and will start working with inequalities.

Math 8 is busy determining slope and writing equations of a line. We should test next week.

Algebra tested on polynomials.

Peace,

Mrs. Sullivan

ssullivan@saintscjm.com

Week 25 Vocabulary - Quiz on 2/25/2022

procrastinated

wincing

potential loitering

phlebotomy

fortress unamused inventory

teleportation

altercations