GREETINGS PARENTS!

I hope all of you are enjoying the fall season. Winter is just around the corner and now is the time to start to label all coats, snow pants, boots, hats and mittens with your child's name. Playing outside is one our daily routines and it is very exciting for us all.

The theme this week is "Down on the Farm". Focusing on the theme, our large groups will include, painting large marshmallow pigs, an open ended project using paint and forks to create a chicken and crafting a horse using yarn for its mane.

Math will be our focus in our small groups. The Threes will be working with Number and Shapes sequence puzzles and the Fours will be challenged with a large 24 piece puzzle.

The books we will be reading are "Barnyard Dance" by Sandra Boynton, "Chicken Little" retold by George Bridge, "Down on the Farm" by Merrily Kutner and "Click Clack Moo Cows that Type" by Doreen Cronin.

I am thankful for my family and friends.

Have a great week!
God Bless,
Teresa Evans
