GREETINGS PARENTS!

I hope all of you are enjoying the mild weather. We are that much closer to spring!

This week's Theme is "Community Helpers". We will be learning the importance of the vocations people choose to make our community a place where we feel safe, happy, and included. We will be doing a police officer, a baker and a sanitation worker craft. The books I will share with my friends are "Hooray for Our Heroes" by Sarah Albee and "I Want to be a police officer" by Liza Alexander.

Small groups this week will be fun, we will be playing ZooPhonics Bingo, Go Fish Alphabet, practice writing our names and counting, patterning and sorting unifix cubes.

Our spiritual lesson this week will be the parable of "The Ten Silver Coins". Jesus says, "We are like the woman's silver coins. God wants every single one of us".

March is reading month! Starting next week we will be encouraging parents to be guest readers. Please make sure you have the Virtus training thru the Diocese before volunteering. The web site for the training is www.virtus.org. Our Preschool schedule is flexible, so if you are interested in reading message me on Bright Wheel or email and we will work out times and dates that is best for all of you.

Friday March 7 is Professional Development day no school!

Thank you for your support and have a great week!

God Bless,
Teresa Evans
