GREETINGS PARENTS!

I hope all of you had a Blessed Easter enjoying time spent with family and friends.

This week's theme is "Earth Day" that will include, recycled art, painting planet Earth using shaving cream for sensory and making a yummy Earth Day snack. The books I will be sharing for our theme are "Save The Planet" by Maryann Dobeck, "Franklin Plants A Tree" by Paulette Bourgeois, "Biscuit's Earth Day Celebration" by Assa Capucilli and "How to Help The Earth By The Lorax " by Tish Rabe.

Our small groups will focus on Science and exploring the world around us. We will be using items that will help us to understand magnification, motion, magnets and sink or float.

Our spiritual lesson will be based on the book "I'm Going to Mass" by Angela M. Burrin. It is a book that our preschool children will join in the Celebration of the Mass.

Have a great week and let us

God Bless,
Teresa Evans
