GREETINGS PARENTS!

This week our theme was "Back to Basics: Reset". We welcomed a new preschool friend, Adalynn, who is also Jaxon's little sister! This was perfect timing to review the core skills that help our classroom stay safe, kind, and happy! Together we practiced being responsible, respectful, and ready to learn.

Our Focus Areas:

Rules to stay safe: We talked about and role played how to keep our hands and bodies to ourselves, and take care of our classroom materials.

Taking Ownership of Our Classroom Environment: We practiced cleaning up, organizing, and helping take care of our learning space.

Kindness: We practiced and role played how to show kindness by using gentle hands and kind, encouraging words with our friends.

Taking Turns and Waiting Patiently: Through play and sharing time, we learned that waiting can be hard, but it helps everyone have fun.

Positive Behavior and Cooperation: Working together and celebrating good choices helped our classroom feel like a team.

This week was all about resetting, reconnecting and remembering the important things that help us grow into caring, capable learners. Thank you for supporting your child at home by reinforcing these same positive habits.

Looking Ahead: Our Halloween social is Wednesday, Oct. 29. You are welcome to send your child in their costume but please no masks and have a change of clothes underneath. All snacks must be peanut free. We will be asking for a few donations for our social. We will send a message on Brightwheel.

Next weeks theme will be Halloween.

Many Blessings,
Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Slating and Mrs. Norton
